NOTES

1 City, University of London is not required by either its accrediting agency or the UK government to publish placement rates for the Bar Vocational Studies (Part-time) programme, so this information has not been provided.

2 The UK does not operate the same system of credit and clock hours as US institutions. However, 10 credits usually equate to 100 hours of study. Modules of study in one academic year equate to 150 credits.

3 Where a $0 balance is shown, less than 10 reportable US students utilised loan funds from that source to fund their GE programme at City, University of London during the fiscal year 2019-2020, therefore we are unable to report on loan levels for this course, in line with US Loan regulations.

4 Costs in GB Pounds converted to US Dollars at a rate of £1 = $1.31 (checked online on 06 January 2020 at www.xe.com) – costs identified for tuition fees plus books and equipment. Costs for Room and Board are not included as the University does not own its own accommodation. Information concerning the University’s Cost of Attendance (including accommodation provision) can be found on our US Loans page.

5 Standard Occupational Classification Codes – please see http://www.bls.gov/soc for more information.
