

Shout! Shout! Up With Your Song!

Sandi Toksvig

with Sandi Toksvig, Dr Christopher Wiley, and Velvet Fist

Tuesday 27 September, 6.30-8pm
Entrance: £10 (includes a drink)

This evening, hosted by The Women's Library, London commemorates the 100th anniversary of the first performance of Ethel Smyth's celebrated suffragette anthem 'March of the Women'.

Dr Christopher Wiley (City University London), who has researched and written on Ethel Smyth, will provide an introduction to the life, works, and suffrage activity of this fascinating composer.

Dr Christopher Wiley

Dame Ethel Smyth

Writer and broadcaster Sandi Toksvig will be speaking about how she and Sue Perkins recreated the song for a performance at the South Bank earlier in the year, and the event will finish with a performance by the acclaimed a cappella feminist choir Velvet Fist.

Further information:

<http://www.londonmet.ac.uk/thewomenslibrary/whats-on/events/talks.cfm>

Bookings: <http://www.londonmet.ac.uk/thewomenslibrary/whats-on/events/booking.cfm>

Concessionary rates are available for full-time students; please bring relevant ID when attending. Book early to avoid disappointment.

The Women's Library
London Metropolitan University
25 Old Castle Street
London E1 7NT

T +44 (0)20 7320 2222
F +44 (0)20 7320 2333

Velvet Fist