PROGRAMME SUMMARY

Few aspects of twenty-first century public policy are as important as how to reconcile demands for the rule of law, social order and community safety with protection of human rights, civil liberties and democratic values in an age of global insecurity. The complex social, economic, political and cultural issues which will affect crime causation in the new century require researchers and professionals who are able to think creatively and work across traditional disciplinary boundaries and subject areas.

The City MSc, which is taught by specialist researchers from across criminological disciplines, allows both for breadth of study and specialization. You will become actively involved in the work of the Criminology Research Group and allied research centres within the School of Arts and Social Sciences. The inclusive departmental ethos, which encourages staff-student interaction, facilitates your training in the production and evaluation of innovative criminological and sociological research.

The MSc in Criminology & Criminal Justice is designed for those who are already or wish to become involved with or have an interest in the increasingly important debates about how to reconcile crime control and policing strategies with respect for and protection of human rights. In addition, the programme is suitable for policy makers, non-governmental organisations and journalists. This innovative programme is designed to equip you with the criminological knowledge that will enable you to analyse and assess the conflicting demands for law, order and public safety and human rights and civil liberties.

The part time route of academic study is intended to provide those of you who have pressing family or work commitments, with more time to reach the required level of study. The content of the course is the same as the full time route. The duration is different and you deliver your dissertations in December not September.

Part-time study occurs over two years. You receive support through the personal tutor and seminar system. Guided reading and study skills help is provided. You are encouraged to participate fully in the staff seminar and public lecture programme and, of course, in Departmental and School Social Events.

Aims

The programme aims:

1. To develop your ability to use criminological knowledge to conceptualize the problem of crime and crime control strategies.
2. To provide you with knowledge of national and transnational policy framework for crime control and policing and the protection and advancement of human rights.
3. To enable you to explore how contemporary demands for law, order and public safety are challenging orthodoxies regarding human rights and civil liberties.
4. To enable you to comprehend the political and practical difficulties of reconciling public security and individual rights.
5. To equip you with the advanced sociological and legal knowledge that will enable you to become employees in criminal justice, security and community safety organisations.
6. To provide an advanced specialist education in the areas of criminology and criminal justice.
7. To enable you to develop your analytical capacities and the ability to examine and critically evaluate complex issues and debates in the area of criminology and criminal justice.

WHAT TYPES OF ASSESSMENT AND FEEDBACK CAN I EXPECT?

Assessment and Assessment Criteria

Assessment of the programme is via the submission of an essay for each 15 credit criminology module and two assignments for each 30 credit module, and a dissertation. Some of the elective modules offered by other programmes have different assessment criteria.

Assessment Criteria are descriptions, based on the intended learning outcomes, of the skills, knowledge or attitudes that you need to demonstrate in order to complete an assessment successfully, providing a mechanism by which the quality of an assessment can be measured. Grade- Related Criteria are descriptions of the level of skills, knowledge or attributes that you need to demonstrate in order to achieve a certain grade or mark in an assessment, providing a mechanism by which the quality of an assessment can be measured and placed within the overall set of marks. Assessment Criteria and Grade-Related Criteria will be made available to you to support you in completing assessments. These may be provided in programme handbooks, module specifications, on the virtual learning environment or attached to a specific assessment task.

Feedback on assessment

Feedback will be provided in line with our Assessment and Feedback Policy. In particular, you will normally be provided with feedback within three weeks of the submission deadline or assessment date. This would normally include a provisional grade or mark. For end of module examinations or an equivalent significant task (e.g. an end of module project), feedback will normally be provided within four weeks. The timescale for feedback on final year projects or dissertations may be longer. The full policy can be found at:

Assessment Regulations

In order to pass your Programme, you should complete successfully or be exempted from the relevant modules and assessments and will therefore acquire the required number of credits.

The Pass mark for each module is 50%.

1. Compensation: where you fail up to a total of 20 credits at first or resit attempt (15 for a Postgraduate Certificate), you may be allowed compensation if:
  - Compensation is permitted for the module involved (see the What will I Study section of the programme specification), and
  - It can be demonstrated that you have satisfied all the Learning Outcomes of the modules in the Programme, and
  - A minimum overall mark of no more than 10% below the module pass mark has been achieved in the module to be compensated, and
  - An aggregate mark of 50% has been achieved overall.

Where you are eligible for compensation at the first attempt, this will be applied in the first instance rather than offering a resit opportunity.

If you receive a compensated pass in a module you will be awarded the credit for that module. The original component marks will be retained in the record of marks and your original module mark shall be used for the purpose of your Award calculation.

2. Resit: where you are not eligible for compensation at the first attempt, you will be offered one resit attempt.

If you are successful in the resit, you will be awarded the credit for that module. The mark for each assessment component that is subject to a resit will be capped at the pass mark for the module. This capped mark will be used in the calculation of the final module mark together with the original marks for the components that you passed at first attempt.

If you do not meet the pass the requirements for a module and do not complete your resit by the date specified you will not progress and the Assessment Board will require that you be withdrawn from the Programme.

If you fail to meet the requirements for the Programme, the Assessment Board will consider whether you are eligible for an Exit Award as per the table below.

If you would like to know more about the way in which assessment works at City, please see the full version of the Assessment Regulations at:
