The first edition of GPR took place in which three universities participated.

The GPR moved into Europe and turned into European Global Product Realisation.

Last year in EGPR’s history that the final workshop was held in the Netherlands.

The 10th edition of the course has been completed in 2011 by five participating Universities.

After the first EGPR, this was the next year, where two companies provided the design task.