

Queer Data Lecture by Kevin Guyan

Thursday 27th October 2022 4-5.30pm
ALG16, College building, City University

City's Centre for Gender and Sexualities is excited to invite you to a talk by Dr. Kevin Guyan about their new book "Queer Data: Using Gender, Sex and Sexuality Data for Action" (Bloomsbury Academic). This important book looks at queer data – defined as data relating to gender, sex, sexual orientation and trans identity/history. Dr. Guyan shows us how current data practices reflect an incomplete account of LGBTQ lives and helps us understand how data biases are used to delegitimise the everyday experiences of queer people.

Hosted by City's Gender and Sexualities Research Centre

About the speaker:

Kevin Guyan is a writer and researcher whose work explores the intersection of data and identity.
